Expansion Update

The worldwide financial crisis has affected all of us in many ways. You have probably seen the recent media coverage of the challenges that Avon and other municipalities are facing as a result. One action being contemplated is a temporary postponement of the library expansion project. This possibility was discussed at the October Town Council meeting and will be discussed again and decided upon in November. We will keep you informed as decisions relating to the library expansion are made. The library staff is working hard to continue to provide a wide range of library services and relevant, interesting programs, in spite of overcrowding. The town remains committed to expanding the library as soon as it is feasible. We appreciate all the support and enthusiasm town residents have demonstrated for our future library.

President's Letter

Although it may seem a bit early to think about the holidays, the Friends of the Library are already planning for the annual Holiday Boutique. This event was a huge success last year, with many people finding items even for those "hard to shop for" folks. If you are searching for a unique but affordable gift, you might want to stop in and browse through some of the remarkable items we have collected. Looking for a beautifully illustrated garden or cookbook? We have it. Great children's books? Yes, we have a large selection, all in wonderful condition. For that hard to please bibliophile, how about an item from our first edition or rare book collection? Our Boutique is right before Thanksgiving so you can get some of those presents out of the way and checked off your list. And because the event is only two days this year, don't forget to mark your calendars now. Bring a friend and stop in to the Friends' Holiday Boutique and browse as long as you wish for that perfect gift. We look forward to seeing you there.
